~~put by an intelligence officer recently returned~~ ~~XXXX~~
~~xxx~~ "I'd swap half a ~~doz~~ dozen Mata Hari's any day," he said, "for one good librarian. The librarian's much more sure of getting her ~~man~~ man--and the TOP SECRET papers."

The general's statement made the papers and those ~~xx~~ papers ~~found their way to the library~~ eventually found their way to CIA. The ~~clipping~~ item was clipped, photostated, then enlarged and hung upon the wall. Long maligned as "drab and dusty," ~~for the sake of~~ ~~the adjectives applied to the library~~, our librarians cherish the clipping as proof that woman for woman they can match the Mata ~~Hari's~~ Hari's and ~~outdo them six to~~ one.
